DataSys Participates in 5th Consecutive Bay Cove “Pearl of an Evening”

Marlborough, Mass. – May 15, 2008

For the 5th consecutive year, DataSys Corporation has sponsored and participated in Bay Cove Human Resource’s “Pearl of an Evening.” The event toasted the success of Bay Cove’s human service programs, recognized the contributions of those who have helped, and thanked the business community for its support.

A private, not-for-profit organization, Bay Cove’s 1,400 employees provide a wide range of effective and compassionate services to over 14,000 individuals and families each year through some 100 treatment programs.

One of the compelling speakers was the Director of Bay Cove’s New Hope Program. He moved people with his story of a young woman who was helped by New Hope’s substance abuse treatment model. New Hope is a sixty-bed short-term residential program that provides transitional support services that bridge the service gap between detoxification and long-term residential or outpatient care. The content of his presentation and his speaking style embodied the effective and compassionate nature of Bay Cove’s programs.

According to DataSys’ President, Lisa Daigle, “DataSys is honored to be affiliated with Bay Cove. Before I became the President of DataSys Corporation, my career focused on health and human services. To this day, I deeply value the work of those who provide services to those in need. I believe in Bay Cove’s philosophy of honoring each person’s life, and their commitment to providing highly skilled and compassionate resources to those in need. I look forward to many more years of partnering with Bay Cove, whether that’s to support their programs or to provide them with Great Plains services. Bay Cove has been a customer since 1999, and we have greatly enjoyed our partnership.”
