

Your September Tip of the Month:

Isn't it frustrating when printing anything from Great Plains to have to click the print button 2 times? You are now in luck. You can turn-off the print dialog box by doing the following:

- Close out of Great Plains
- Right-Click on your start menu
- Click on the folder that contains your Great Plains code (e.g. C:\Great Plains)
- Double-click on the Dex.ini file
- Type the following at the bottom of the file NoPrintDialogs=TRUE
- Save and close the file
- Repeat the above steps for each workstation that does not want the dialog box to display
